Helmeted Police Occupy Vienna

New Turn of Events in Drive Against Nazis and Socialists—Attempt to Defeat Nazi Political Movements.

VIENNA, Feb. 1. (AP)—Steel helmeted police, with bayonets fixed, occupied socialist centers in Vienna today as the Austrian government's drive against Nazis and socialists entered a new phase.

Soldiers joined Vienna police in taking over a number of such buildings, including that in which the socialist newspaper Arbeiter Zeitung is published.

The newspaper building was heavily guarded. An Associated Press man who attempted to enter was told he might enter if he desired, but that no one was being permitted to leave.

Later, army lorries with troops began throwing cordon around the whole district in which socialist activities are centered to forestall possible socialist reprisals.

The idea behind this new turn of events is to defeat the Nazi political movement in Austria by demonstrating that Marxism can be "defeated" without the help of the Nazis.

Mastick Commission Recommends Millions For Local Governments

Tax Revision Group Suggests That
New Taxes Approximating $170-
100,000 Be Distributed to Apply
on Basis—Would Employ Two Per Cent Retail Sales Tax.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 1. (AP)—The Mastick Tax Revision Commission today recommended new taxes totaling approximately $170,000,000 for distribution to local governments.

The new revenue would be raised through a two per cent retail sales tax and through profits derived from the distribution of liquor by the State under a central liquor authority.

The commission estimates that the former would yield $110,000,000 while the liquor authority would contribute the balance of $60,000,000.

The commission also threw its support behind the move for municipal ownership of public utilities.

Revenues from both the sales tax and liquor sales would be earmarked for local government services. Attention was called to the fact that interest alone on local indebtedness now requires approximately $142,000,000 a year.

Other recommendations in the commission's annual report to the legislature were:

Creation of a state authority to handle all liquor distributed for retail in New York State.

Adoption of a new formula for distributing state aid to schools to place it on a more equitable basis.

General revision of the state's tax program and extensive local government reorganization.

Young Republicans Honor Committee

Young Republicans will gather at the Surrogate Hotel this evening to honor members of the executive committee of the Uster County Republican Committee.

Many of the prominent officials in the county Republican organization are expected to be present, among them Philip Elting, Uster County Republican leader.

The Young Republican Club, which is sponsoring the banquet, is a new organization, and played an important part in the elections last fall.

The meeting tonight is expected to bring together many of the candidates for office, and those who worked for them, and an evening of friendly discussion and brotherhood is expected to result.

The speakers for the affair have not been announced, but a fine program has been planned. The meeting is slated to start at 7:30.

Plans Progress For Benedictine Ball

At a meeting of the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary Wednesday afternoon it was definitely decided to hold the annual Easter Ball on Easter Monday evening, although it has not been determined if the affair may be staged at the old armory, now the new Municipal Auditorium, which is being rebuilt as a CWA project.

To ladies' attention, the old armory could not be secured for the occasion, that the ball would be held at the New State Armory at Manor avenue. As word at this point is not known where the ball will be held the place will be announced.

Meanwhile plans are progressing to make this affair one of the most colorful ever held in Kingston. There will be a parade, a band, and other features.

It will be a most successful affair, and it is hoped that it will be a most successful affair.

Girl Reserve Health Banquet

More than 100 girls reserve enjoyed the annual health banquet held at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. The emphasis this year was on the health foods of different countries and the tables were most attractively decorated to carry out this theme.

The T. M. T. M. Club represented Holland; the Blue Triangle Club, Switzerland; the Busy Bee Club, America; the Per Club, Italy; and the Ever Ready Club, China. The president of each club gave a short explanation of the special contribution of her country, and told the significance of the decorations. Each group also sang a typical folksong.

One of the high spots of the program was the presentation of awards to the girls for attendance, which were made by Miss Lillian Herdman, girl reserve secretary. The first award went to Edna Webster who had a perfect record for five years. Those attending every meeting and except for two years, were Winona Watrous, Rose Helen Moller, Helen Flicker, and those absent only once in two years were Mildred Rhymer, Beatrice Krom, Maria Buddington, Catherine Locke, Delores Kelse, Grace Alton, June Hudler. Those having one year's perfect record were Adele Donaldson, Lillian Gregg, Helen Hiten, Wanda Plough, Gertrude Chamberlain, June Crandell, Margaret Lead, Ruth Robinson, Wanda Watrous, Janice Freer. The club secretaries who received awards for club records of activities, were Helen Flicker, first, while for second place there was a tie between Elsie Buchanan and Jane Hall.

The committee that assisted the girl reserves with their banquet included: Miss Grainger Stewart, Miss Shirley Boylston, Miss Dorothy Remick, Miss Florence Bais, Mrs. Sherwood Lasher, Miss Mildred Healy, Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Miss Katherine Millard, Mrs. G. F. Rice, Miss Dorothy Stewart, Miss Dorothy Kaplan.

The girls then parted after an enjoyable time.

DRY BROOK.

Dry Brook, Feb. 5.—Howard Rull of Margareville and J. B. Vandersee of Selkirk were callers in this place last week.

Mrs. Grever Little returned home last week after several weeks spent at Jay Gould's in New York city, where she visited some of her old friends and acquaintances whom she had not seen for a long time.

David Birdell of Margareville and W. E. Avery have been busy a few days going over telephone lines and repairing telephones.

OVER NIGHT PARKING

The drive against over night parking launched by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood will make driving safer and will aid the city in a good many ways. Those who insist on leaving their cars unlighted in dark streets as a hazard for an emergency call to the fire department, and who block the early morning trips of the city snow plows, will find that it will cost them $10 in city court. The fact that the city government is going to make night driving safer speaks well for Acting Mayor Heiselman.

It is hard to believe that the law will be strictly enforced, that the man who takes his family to the theatre, parks his car on one of the main well lighted streets, will have to pay a fine for such action. The drive is aimed against those who insist on leaving their machines at the curb night after night, who are too lazy or careless to drive into the driveway, and who do not care for the safety of the other fellow.

These drivers have long been a menace to the night driving public, and it is time that some action is taken to remove these cars from the streets. A tour of the city during the early morning hours will reveal that there are scores of these parked machines, some in the dark places along the various streets, a real menace.

Chief Wood and Mayor Heiselman are to be complimented in their plan to remove the all night parker from the streets, this drive is aimed against them and not the person who wants to enjoy some form of amusement for a few hours and leaves his car parked on a well lighted street to do so.

REPUBLICAN STOCK JUMPS.

The defeat of Mayor LaGuardia's economy bill, even though its enactment was recommended by the state executive, Governor Lehman, may be the means Republicans have long awaited in strengthening their hold in state politics. Few a short time ago would predict that LaGuardia, fiery Republican radical, might be the means of this rejuvenation, but an aroused public opinion, which seeks to aid New York city in its difficulties, will not be happy to learn that the bill, an emergency measure, failed because certain New York Democrats under the Tammany banner, played stupid politics.

LaGuardia, undaunted, will take his cause to the people, a procedure once used by Alfred E. Smith against a hostile legislature with great success. President Roosevelt also has that habit of "going to the people," and it will seem strange but sensible for someone else to give the Democrats a taste of their own medicine.

When LaGuardia was elected on the fusion ticket, an aroused public expected just such action as he has taken. That Tammany Democrats seek to block legislation, which is backed by the Governor and the New York city electorate, is playing with fire. A few more such votes on similar measures will give the Republicans control of the state without them raising a hand.

A THWARTED WOMAN.

Public sympathy goes out to Miss Ida May Stall of Cadiz, O. She is as mad as hell, you can easily imagine what when you have heard the story of the oppression.

Ida is 24, handsome in her way, and has worked in a coal mine since she was twelve. She started helping her dad in his own mine and then kept on. Believe it or not, she liked the work, and still does. "All these years," she says, "I have cut props, dug entries, loaded coal, shot it down and hauled it out. And now the state comes along and says I wasn't intended by nature to be a coal miner, and I ought to stay at home and mend clothes!"

BLOND GODDESS

A New Social by Herbert Jensen

THE blonde goddess was a young woman with long, straight, blonde hair, and a face that was as fair as the snow. She was a young woman of about twenty, and she was a young woman of about twenty. She was a young woman of about twenty, and she was a young woman of about twenty.

Chapter XX
 FRANK EXPLORES

THE sun had sunk below the horizon, and the night was dark. Frank was alone in the room, and he was alone in the room. He was alone in the room, and he was alone in the room.

He drew forth his binoculars and looked through them. It was the house, the house that he had seen in the distance. He was alone in the room, and he was alone in the room.

He heard a rustle behind him. He turned around, and he saw a shadow. He was alone in the room, and he was alone in the room.

An iguana, as large as a cat, drifted across the rocks ahead of him. Doubtfully he bolstered his pistol, and withdrew into the room. Time enough to enter the city after dark, meanwhile he would get some badly needed sleep.

The speaking of hats and the soft whispering of their wings awakened Frank. He glanced at the illuminated dial of his watch. It was a little after midnight. He stretched the stiffness from his limbs. He adjusted his clothing as best he could in the darkness, and tightened his belt. He was very hungry.

He stepped into the open and followed in the tracks of the party that had passed the ruin during the afternoon. As he approached the city the trees thinned and gave him scanty cover.

Ahead, he saw a light, a dull glow, that he guessed from its height to be a fire of some kind atop the big pyramid. This was confirmed as he approached the huge mass. He wondered at the lack of edifices on this side.

Doubtfully he gauged the height of the moon, speculating if the two hours light remaining were likely to be more of a help than a hindrance. He was grateful for the dim illumination a few minutes later when he stepped into the shadow of the pyramid.

He stopped, rigid with astonishment. Ahead of him, almost at his feet was the white disk of the moon. It took a few seconds for an explanation of this eerie phenomenon to penetrate his mind. It was the moon, reflected in a pool of water. As his gaze adjusted itself to the correct focus, he made out the dim bulk of the pyramid reflected below the lopsided shield that was the moon.

It was a cenote! One of those huge cavernous openings that abound throughout the Yucatan peninsula, where the roof of rock, ages ago, had fallen into a natural subterranean reservoir.

Frank dropped to his hands and knees and crawled to the edge. The brink was sharp and the sides almost perpendicular. It made a sort of lake sunk scores of feet below the surface of the surrounding terrain. The cenote was a rough oval, a hundred yards long, with a breadth-span of about two-thirds that distance.

The pyramid abutted against the farther end, looming like a grim sentinel of past ages.

HE stepped away from the edge and progressed with infinite caution to the base of the structure. The moon was somewhat behind him, shining upon the massed stone. He saw to his surprise that the pyramid had been constructed so that this side reared itself in a smooth perpendicular line from the lip of the cenote.

It would be a terrible fall, thought the American, from the truncated top of the pyramid. An object hurled from that height would have an uninterrupted plunge to the surface of the water.

He rounded the corner away from the pool, and guiding himself with one hand touching the masonry, approached the center of the sharply sloping side. He was in deep shadow. At the center the brown stone steps began.

He climbed a little way, and rested, listening for sounds of human beings. He progressed slowly but assured himself that no one was about. At the top he peered over the edge.

The exemption. If the common home being maintained, the parent is away on business, or a child away at school or on a visit, the exemption is allowed. Moreover, if a parent is obliged to maintain his dependent children with relatives or in a boarding house, while he lives elsewhere, the exemption still applies. If, however, without necessity, the dependent makes his home elsewhere, the beneficiary is not the head of a family.

The same ruling applies to husband and wife "living together." If occasionally and temporarily a husband is away on business or on a visit, the common home being maintained, the exemption still applies. The unavoidable absence of husband or wife at a sanatorium does not preclude the exemption. But if the husband continuously makes his home at one place and the wife at another, they are not living together within the meaning of the revenue act.

THEY talk differently now. Their eyes have been opened to the sight of republicans in a democratic cabinet. A President almost never mentioning the party whose candidate he was; the clearing out of office and almost out of Washington of officials of the successful party; a national democratic chairman openly lending aid to republican Senator Hiram Johnson in his re-election contest.

It has taken a long time for the news to sink in, but the politicians understand now they are in the midst of a new deal in politics as well as in government.

At Sea—And Rudderless
 It would be difficult to overstate the situation of confusion which this news has caused in many (if not all) well ordered minds.

Public figures of magnitude, who had come to regard the old party lines as among the most definite figures in the universe, find themselves completely at sea. They do not understand what has happened. Perhaps, under the circumstances, it is not surprising that the republican organization of Massachusetts—the state of Calvin Coolidge and Henry Cabot Lodge—is debating whether to run a candidate at all for senator this year. Some party leaders want simply to let democratic Senator Walsh have his re-election by default and not commit themselves until there are further developments.

The republican national headquarters continues to fire off charges point-blank, but some of the most important regulars think it would be much better to stay quiet.

Where Are The Issues
 FOR one of the few times in history a campaign-year session of congress has been sitting for a month without developing a solitary party issue.

Twice as many house republicans voted for the President's gold bill as against it. The chief remaining controversy is the St. Lawrence treaty, which has strong republican support. The NRA has been attacked about equally by nominal republicans and nominal democrats, and vice versa. Nine months from election day the republican organization remains apparently programless.

ALTOGETHER, it is an amazing situation, even so political situation.

Some politicians think that in the end Mr. Roosevelt will be elected enough democrats—used to offend his republican gains. Others disagree. The one sure thing is that he has political Washington growing and aching for truth.

Brescia three months later, the opera achieved an instantaneous success.

The story, which is laid in Japan, concerns a young American naval officer, Lieutenant Pinkerton, who marries a Japanese geisha girl, Butterfly. Renouncing her, he disappears for three years and takes an American wife. When Butterfly learns of his faithlessness, she kills herself.

Puccini came from a family which for a century and a half had produced an uninterrupted line of musicians. The beautiful opera, despite its early failure, is now a standard part of the repertory of the world's leading opera houses.

Puccini understood hardly a word of the English text when he saw the David Belasco play, "Madame Butterfly," in London; yet, it appealed to him so much that he decided to set it to music. After two years of work, the opera was completed and presented at Milan on February 17, 1904. The performance was a fiasco, and the audience hissed and howled. Puccini was so infuriated by this reception that he took the score away with him, making a second performance impossible. Strange to say, when produced at

TOMORROW: THE GLASS TUBE OF MERCURY THAT FORECASTS THE WEATHER

NEW PALTZ
 New Palitz, Feb. 8.—The chapel program at the Normal School on Tuesday, February 6, opened with a hymn. A Bible reading by Miss Rebecca McKenna was followed with the Lord's Prayer. Announcements were given by Ruth Hatch, Ruth Cazer, Betty Hardy, Dorothy Keddle and Miss Grace MacArthur and were as follows: The holiday on Lincoln's Birthday and the change in the date of the school party to be held February 16 instead of the 9th. The Freshmen advertised their service dance held Tuesday afternoon, with a skit. Miss Bertha Bennett announced that the proceeds of the Junior service dance met the training school milk bill for January. The freshmen chorus, under the leadership of Miss Jennie Lee Dann sang the following numbers: "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman," "A Vocal Encounter," "Solo Solo," "Juanita" and "Mistress Shady." "White Queen," "Lloyd Bell, now a student of the school, gave a 15 minute talk that included various topics of interest to the school.

Mrs. George Oates will be hostess at the next meeting of the Study Club meeting on Tuesday, February 20. There will be music. "Russia Under the Czar," by Mrs. David J. DuBois; "History of the Russian Revolution," Miss Laura Hasbrouck. Dr. Victor Vance Anderson, of the Anderson School of Staatsburg, was a visitor in town on Tuesday.

Mrs. and Mrs. F. S. Osterhoudt, Peggy Osterhoudt and Margaret Hummel of Shandaken were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Churchill.

Mrs. Martha Whitmore of Plattekill visited town on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Parry, Sr., Miss Martha Parry, Henry Parry, Jr., and Miss Helen Wells of Highland Falls were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wells in town.

Mrs. Etta C. Camp and Miss Carrie Johnston of "Bide-A-Wee" cottage, upper Main street, called on relatives in Plattekill recently. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith entertained guests at their home on Excelsior avenue over the week-end. Ruth Eisner of the Normal School spent the week-end with Cella Werner at Florida, Orange county. Margaret Donnelly spent the week-end at her home in Wappingers Falls.

Miss Peggy Dunham attended a party at the home of Miss Audrey Ackert at Clintondale, in honor of her 15th birthday one evening last week. The Halmshaw Fellowship Club held a social meeting in the Methodist Church on Monday evening, February 5, for the members. After a substantial supper, games were enjoyed. Those present were: The Misses Joyce Mauterstock, Elizabeth and Grace Hasbrouck, Blanche Guilnac, Frances Mauterstock, Elaine Kniffen, Thelma Diedrick, Florence Palmer, Muriel Vail, Doris Woodward, Arlene DePew, Charlotte Tammer, Clara Westover, Alice Clark, Alice Gardner, Mabel Schriber, Helena Olds, Mary Muffly, Miss Clark, Mrs. Helen Turner and Mrs. Ervin Small. Mrs. Ira Steen entertained two tables of bridge on Tuesday afternoon, January 30, at her home on North Chestnut street.

Mrs. Bert Nichols of Walden has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Julia Berkert, on Church and North Front streets.

Sunday, February 18, a union service of the churches of New Palitz, Lloyd, Modena, Clintondale

Politics at Random

by BYRON PRICE

(Critic of the Associated Press, Washington)

POLITICIANS who were skeptical about the "new party" talked of in 1932 by Roosevelt supporters are just beginning to see what it was all about.

They understand now that they have been witnessing the most ambitious effort of a generation to bring about a real realignment in politics, a radical revision of party lines which have obtained with only minor variations since the civil war.

When Mr. Roosevelt brought a substantial group of republicans to his camp two years ago, his supporters were not to be regarded as a matter of great significance. It represented, they said, just another of those temporary deflections from which all parties suffer.

THEY talk differently now. Their eyes have been opened to the sight of republicans in a democratic cabinet. A President almost never mentioning the party whose candidate he was; the clearing out of office and almost out of Washington of officials of the successful party; a national democratic chairman

Exemption Allowed Head of a Family.

A head of a family is defined by income-tax regulations as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose rights to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation."

The exemption allowed a head of a family is $2,500. The phrase "in one household" may be interpreted as meaning the taxpayer's personal residence, an apartment, rooms in a boarding house, hotel, etc.

Under certain circumstances it is not necessary that the taxpayer and his dependents live under one roof during the entire taxable year in order that the taxpayer may claim the exemption. If the common home being maintained, the parent is away on business, or a child away at school or on a visit, the exemption is allowed. Moreover, if a parent is obliged to maintain his dependent children with relatives or in a boarding house, while he lives elsewhere, the exemption still applies. If, however, without necessity, the dependent makes his home elsewhere, the beneficiary is not the head of a family.

The same ruling applies to husband and wife "living together." If occasionally and temporarily a husband is away on business or on a visit, the common home being maintained, the exemption still applies. The unavoidable absence of husband or wife at a sanatorium does not preclude the exemption. But if the husband continuously makes his home at one place and the wife at another, they are not living together within the meaning of the revenue act.

Choral Group Will Elect Its Officers

The second rehearsal of the choral group of the Y. W. C. A. was held last evening at the association under the direction of Harry P. Dodge with Miss Edna Morrish as the piano.

Plans for definite organization were made and at the next rehearsal officers will be elected. Those expected to serve on the nominating committee are Mrs. George N. Wood.

Their Hero

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Christopher Columbus Crow opened his eyes.

"What!" he exclaimed, though in a weak voice.

"You're all crying!"

"We thought the battle with the Owl had killed you in the end," said Top Notch.

"Are you all right?"

"Does any place hurt?" asked Willy Nilly.

"I'm perfectly all right," Christopher answered, "but I was so tired out from the battle that I guess I just went to pieces when I got here."

"You took the time to tell us the Owl had gone away forever," said Top Notch admiringly.

"Yes, he has gone," said Christopher. "None of you must worry about me. My wings are tired from using them so hard. After a little rest I'll feel better than ever. I need the exercise." And tired though he was he gave a cawing chuckle.

"Never did I think," he continued, and the familiar gleam and twinkle came back in Christopher's eyes, "that I'd make you all cry because you loved me so much."

"Well, well, I guess I can play lots of pranks and do a great deal of mischief after this. You'll all feel that you can excuse me!"

"Now, now, Christopher," smiled Willy Nilly.

"Our hero!" And the others shouted and barked and quacked.

"Our hero!" Then Willy Nilly took Christopher on his shoulder and, marching around the shop, they all sang: "Christopher is our hero, our hero, our hero! Christopher Columbus Crow!"

Tomorrow—Go! Stop!

MARLBOROUGH YOUNG PEOPLE

WILL PRESENT PLAY FEB. 12

Marlborough, Feb. 8.—Monday evening, February 12, at 8:30 o'clock, at St. Mary's Hall, this village, the big event of the month takes place when the Young People's Club of St. Mary's Church make their initial appearance in a three act comedy entitled "Kicked Out of College," under the direction and supervision of Miss Mariel Hall.

The cast, composed entirely of young people of the town, has worked very hard to give a perfect performance and feel assured that they can promise an evening of hilarious entertainment to the audience.

The play concerns Nathan Burrows, who is expelled from college.

Married, remarried and finally not married at all. Those in the cast are: Francis Downer, Eugene Froemel, James Cartrone, Ignacia Zambello, Vincent Downer, Joseph Alonge, Matthew Downer, Joseph Panto Vento, Joseph Downer, Ignacia Panto Vento, Virginia Herbert, Bernadine Cetrone, Mary Batton, Carmella Scilla, Mary Penavento, Rose Truiano, Elizabeth Penavento, Lucille Morrow, Carmella Scilla, Olivio Fregeno and Joseph Penavento.

Rapport Ladies' Meeting

Circle No. 1 of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will be entertained by Mrs. Arthur S. Cole in the parsonage, 193 Clinton avenue, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Final arrangements will be made for the first dinner on February 14.

ST. REMY

St. Remy, Feb. 8.—Sunday services at the St. Remy Church at 2:30 p. m. A religious mono-drama will be given by Marion Lina Turner of Albany.

"Whosoever Believeth." The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

The Men's Club will meet the Warts Street Baptists at last home ball Friday evening, February 9.

Mrs. Robert Hoffman had the misfortune to fall and sprain her ankle a few days ago.

Kenneth Krom is recovering from a fall in which he injured his knee. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Pianck moved to Maplecrest on Wednesday.

RELIGIOUS MONO-DRAMA AT ALBANY AVENUE CHURCH

This coming Sunday evening at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church a religious mono-drama will be given by Miss Marion Lina Turner. The title of the production is "Whosoever Believeth", and will be given with the assistance of simple and appropriate stage properties and lights. Miss Turner is a monodramatist of experience and ability and will give effective dramatic expression to her message. The service will be on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

At the morning service at 11 o'clock the pastor, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, will preach a timely sermon on "Whosoever Believeth" which will be a most helpful and inspiring study of our great religion.

Happy Camp, Cal., has what is believed to be the only "big cabin" high school in the country. Built during the 1920s.

Who Said Old Fashion Winter Thing of Past

First Winter in Some Time Where There Was Good Sleighb, Skating and Taking With Subzero Weather Thrown in for Good Measure.

We don't like the old fashioned winters any more, observed a would-be weather shark when Old Mr. Winter swept into Kingston late in 1933.

"We don't," don't we," replied Kingston residents in sarcastic tones today as they awoke this morning only to find that subzero weather had again prevailed and that thermometers were still registering zero at 8 o'clock. During the night temperatures from 10 degrees below and lower were recorded in the city and its outskirts.

Even old timers who recall the old fashioned winters of the long ago agree that this has been a stiff winter and that there was still more weather to come.

This is the first winter in some time where so much subzero weather has prevailed. There has also been plenty of good sleighb on the roads that have not been kept clear of snow, but since the advent of the automobile but few people these days are able to enjoy one of the old-fashioned sleighrides of former years.

In Kingston the snow that has fallen has been packed solid by traffic and never was the hills in better shape for coasting. After school hours all of the hills are crowded with youngsters with their sleds.

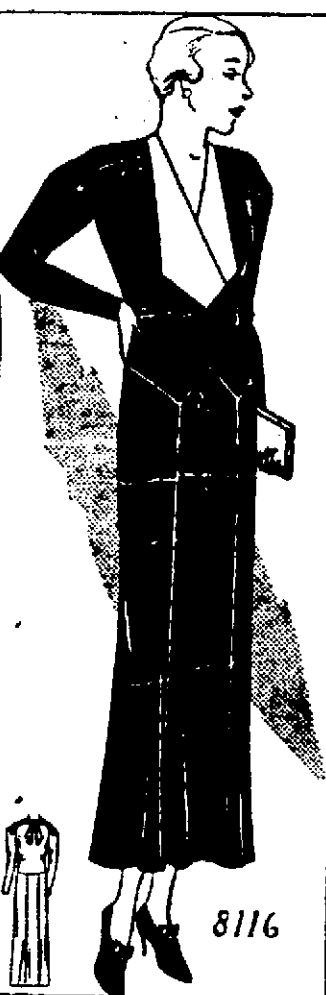

Many are also enjoying the sport of skating, and find it excellent sport. With ice from a foot to three feet thick in the Hudson river there has been excellent skating this winter, although there is but little skating late on the river or Rondout creek owing to the snow that covers the ice.

There is excellent skating on many of the smaller ponds and lakes that have been cleared of snow.

The air this morning was crisp and chilly with the sun shining bright and clear.

This is the first winter in some years where the householders have been forced to use more fuel, either coal, oil or gas, to keep the heating plants operating efficiently.

Piles Go Quick

Without Surgery or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither surgery nor cutting remove the cause.

Red circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are either too weak or too full—the parts almost dead. To cure Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEN ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 950 cases. Add 10c to decide every Pile sufferer should be able to cure HEN ROID tablets from their own drugstore with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when HEN ROID Drug Store inside every Pile sufferer to try HEN ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not cure their Piles. No matter how stubborn the case—try.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press
Get a Horse!

Williamsport, Pa.—A tire went flat on Edwin J. Good's automobile during the wee hours.

While he was tinkering the tire his lights went out.

As he cranked the car the engine "ticked" and almost howled his way.

When he closed the door the glass broke.

Finally on the way again, a wheel suddenly rolled off into a vacant lot.

Good called a taxicab.

Bedtime Story.

Camden, N. J.—It was a suit for divorce and the attorney for the defendant was cross-examining the plaintiff, Robert E. Noell.

"Didn't you kick your wife out of bed?" he asked.

"No, but she kicked me out lots of times," was the reply.

Mrs. Noell testified it was the other way around. The court will listen further.

Sheepskin at a Fank.

Oxford, O.—About the $10 fee for a diploma, The Student, Miami University undergraduate paper, suggests the university purchase 100 sheep for about $2,700.

The paper figures the school could sell the mutton for about $2,000, heads and hooves for $50, and sheepskins left over after the diploma-making for about $1,500, not to mention the most.

That, it concludes, "Heavy senior will have his diploma and in addition he will have a dividend of $15.00."

Safety Last.

The Joe, Calif.—Two boys were observed at risk practice in the hills. The boys telephoned Francisco's police, who discovered the route and had been using the door of a powder magazine for a target.

Charivari Are "Blat"

Wichita, Kan.—A charivari, the Supreme Court of Kansas has held, is a "riot" and therefore, unlawful.

Police Chief P. W. Wilson has issued orders that his department stop charivari parties that place newly married couples in dilapidated "trailers" and draw them at high speed through the business streets, or "take them for a ride" in small coaster wagons by the same method.

Cat Tale.

Omaha, Neb.—It started when Bert Senebough tried to chase a stray cat from his backyard.

The cat bit him on both hands and he choked to death. But after that his real trouble started.

He wrapped his hands with bandages and saturated them with turpentine. Then while firing his furnace the turpentine was ignited and he was severely burned about his already bitten hands.

No Help Wanted.

Binghamton—This business of being "rescued" from suicide is getting tiresome, H. K. Gold, assistant meteorologist, complains.

Every morning in order to reach a gauge on the Chenango river he must climb the railing and reach below the floor level of a bridge.

Here it comes again. Gold reported yesterday, as two youths ran toward him shouting "Don't do that, mister, don't do that. Wait a minute, hold on."

Gold explained his duty to the youths and added "It's not only approved before, but it will again."

Quaid Assistant.

The quaid, assistant of Governor, up Albany, N. Y.—It's so cold that, quaid at least once year to blank.

The Tall Story Club Hears from Old Bill

Veteran Shawangunk Mountain Trapper Spins Yarn of Being Driven Out of His Shack When Smoke Frees in Chimney—Saved From Bear's Embrace.

Colonial Chapter, No. 661, of The Tall Story Club, was in session today discussing cold weather of yesterday and today when Old Bill Leogid, veteran Shawangunk Mountain hunter and trapper, dropped into the lodge rooms at the invitation of a friend.

"Old Bill and his friend dropped into easy chairs and listened to the yarns being spun by the older members of the club. Suddenly Bill's friend interrupted the flow of talk by saying 'Old Bill here has been through many hard winters, maybe he can tell you of some of his experiences.'"

"Can't tell anything of no account," said Old Bill modestly. "But I do recall one winter that was particularly hard. If I do say it myself, I'll never forget the morning I woke up to find the shack full of smoke which poured into the room from the fireplace. Yes sir, that there smoke got so thick I was forced to leave the shack. It was so cold that night that whether you believe me or not the smoke froze in the chimney and when I got outside it certainly was a peculiar sight to look up at the chimney and see that frozen smoke mounting up into the sky from the top of the chimney."

"Well, I had to get out the good old axe and climb up on the roof and chop away at that smoke ice until I got the chimney free so that it would draw. Then I went back into the shack and started a fire in the fireplace."

"Did the smoke freeze again?" interrupted a member of the club.

"Nah," replied Old Bill. "for I dumped a twenty pound sack of salt in the fire and that kinder helped to prevent the smoke getting froze. Well after I got the chimney drawing again I found that I had nothing to eat left in the shack and picking up the trusty gun I started out on my snowshoes to hunt for game."

"By this time the wind was howling with gale force and a blizzard broke over the mountain. The snow fell so fast I could not see my hand afore my face and first thing I knew I ran kerplunk into a big bear that had been awakened by the intense cold and was out of his den, roaming around trying to get warm."

"I let out one yell and started away from there. I never went so fast in my life but the bear was right after me. Suddenly afore I knew it I had reached the peak of the mountain. What was I to do. The bear was right at my heels. If I jumped I would be dashed to pieces."

"But Old Bill has never been stumped yet. I just blew as hard as I could and it was so cold that my breath froze solid. I lopped off a big chunk of the frozen breath and made myself a sled. Then just as the bear was about to grab me I sat down on the chunk of ice and shoved off. Talk about flying, I went so fast down that mountain on my lump of ice that my clothes caught fire, but afore I was burned any I reached the bottom and jumping off rolled over and over in a snow bank putting out the fire."

As Bill finished one of the club members arose and moved that the veteran trapper be made a charter member of the club.

Mrs. Thompson Lost
74 Pounds of Fat

No More Headaches

Here's a little formula—actually a health treatment which physicians prescribe to safely and comfortably take off excess fat and keep a lithe slender figure all while you build up energy and a glorious health perfection free from headaches, indigestion, constipation, nervousness, dizziness and shortness of breath. Simply take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen salts in a glass of hot water first thing every morning.

Kruschen accomplishes this wondrous work by helping establish normal and proper body functioning. No diet or strenuous exercise is required. It's the little daily dose of Kruschen that results in this gradual but safe and sure reduction.

Mrs. E. K. Thompson of St. Louis, writes: "I took of 74 lbs. with Kruschen and by taking a small daily dose I keep my weight normal and feel fine at all times. No more sluggish headaches. A jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle at leading druggists the world over."

When Skirting the Mode

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild

Covered belt buckles and a trio of belt extensions across the back draws attention to a smooth fit through the hip section of the skirt at the left. The belt finishes are repeated to trim pockets in the front. The silhouette is extremely narrow.

Two other separate skirts are shown indicating the prevailing preference in such details as pockets and buttons.

That's Gold in Them There Frills

New York—Managing a train is one of the unromantic duties imposed upon women who will keep up with the procession, even though it takes a train to do it.

Even the floor length skirt needs some handling. Believe it or not, the nights have returned when men find themselves stepping on women's dresses, and when it is necessary to hold up skirts when going down stairs. A nuisance? Of course it is, but what is a poor fashion-ridden gal to do?

There are many stunning dinner dresses that are dark, and spangled like the sky with stars. The seemingly studded silks, the dresses that twinkle rather than blaze, these are the best of all, especially just now when women are divided between the stiffer silks, like taffeta, and the softer, like satin or chiffon.

Whether you come right out in the open as a sponsor of taffeta, or whether your sponsorship of it is under cover, the chances are you have joined up with the rustling army. We already hear rumors of dark taffetas under light dresses, light ones under dark. There is undoubtedly a chance for the revival of such a good old custom.

Although the dark dinner dress, black, vibrant blue, and so on, is a prime favorite, one hears excited comment on yellow. Touches of it have been creeping in gradually until the color of gold has become almost as much talked of as gold itself. Frocks of yellow taffeta threaded, or in some way trimmed, with gold are reported from several of the winter resorts and are even seen about town.

When Fashions Go in Reverse

Front and back views are both interesting this season, since they frequently reflect opposed treatments—full front with straight back, belted front with loose back, plain front with pleated back, fitted front with rippled or flounced back. It is a way of keeping the silhouette classic from one point of view and influenced by current style diversions in the other.

A Kingston man remembers when he used to ring white hangings on the clothes. But that was when he was a boy. Now, when they come to hang out, when they come to hang out.

The Wrinkled Face—The man's brow is all wrinkled. He doesn't get enough applause; he's good and that he is. He's more housewives to be bought. He's why, when soaked, he is elated. He's why, when soaked, he is elated.

Comer—No, no! I simply could not walk a step in shoes that pinch. Clerk—I'm sorry, madam. I've shown you all our stock. These shoes were the one you were wearing when you came in.

Shorts to Match the Short Month—Take no thought for the month and the poorhouse will have to be thought of. Members of the profession should see that crooks do not take advantage of the ignorant and helpless. When one meets up with a swelled head he knows brains didn't do it. This country seems to be full of experts who know everything about money except how to get it. A woman who thinks no man is good enough for her is often right—and more of it. Many a man has been robbed by his enemies while watching his friends. Don't tell everything you know; keep a little for yourself. Conscience is that thing which enables some persons to feel sorry when they're found out. Few things happen—somebody makes them happen. Quit arguing—get the facts. For good work good tools are as necessary as good workmen. Nobody wants to be jealous, but everybody is. Time and sorrow are saved if we learn to profit from the experience of others. A quiet, serious, sensible person will just about run a modern party. An outstanding success is the result of willingness to do a little better than "good enough." After forty-five, a man sits down to read and before he knows it he's asleep. A married man is the fellow who has to hang all his clothes on one hook in the family closet.

Jamerson—I hear that Moe Money has been telling people I am a rogue and a swindler. Perkins—Oh, I didn't know you wanted it kept a secret.

A friend asked if he knew anything about a certain man who was trying to borrow some money. He replied: "Sure, I know him as well as I know you. Don't lend him a cent!"

Woman—I was a fool when I married you! Her Husband—I suppose you were, but I was so infatuated at the time that I didn't notice it as much as I do now.

A fisherman is reported to have played a fish five hours before landing it. That's nothing. Think of the girls who play some poor fish for years and years before landing him.

Culprit (being tried)—I want justice! (shouting) I demand justice! Judge—Silence! Remember—you are in a courtroom!

When a fellow gets the idea it takes pull to get ahead, he may start trying to pull the wool over your eyes.

Lucy—Say, Molly, if you were me would you accept Jack? Molly—Yes, Lucy, if I were you I would accept anyone while the acceptance is good.

A committee of five usually consists of the man who does the work, three others to pat him on the back, and one to bring in a minority report.

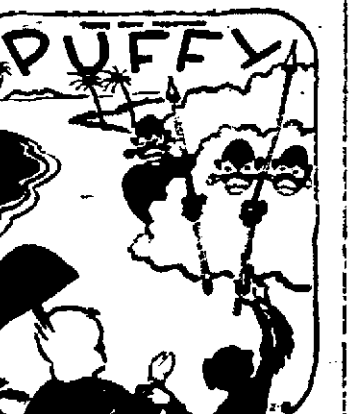

Father (to his daughter, aged 8)—What are you going to be when you grow up?

Daughter—I'm going to be either an artist or a dancer, because I don't think I'll be much good at this mother business.

It takes a strong man to resist an invitation to make a speech.

A Weeping Memorial—One of the most romantic memorials in the world is the "Fountain of Tears" in Bakhchisarai, Russia. Erected by a Tatar ruler to express his grief at the death of a captive Polish princess, it has "shed a tear"—a drop of water—once every minute for the last 300 years.—Collier's Weekly.

Her, Puff, says Pal Bimbo, with knee knocking knee. Take a look and then say if you see what I see. "Never, my timbers," says Puff, "what are those?" Such horrible bimboes with bones in their nose!"

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Predictions were made freely at the close of the special session of congress in June that when the 1934 congressional elections approached there would be republican campaign assertions that the President has put congress and the constitution on the shelf.

The prophecy has come true. Election day still is rather distant, but campaign issues are being made daily on the floor of the senate and the house.

Perhaps the most active of the candidates up for re-election this year is Senator Arthur Robinson of Indiana. Unlike many of his republican brethren who seem inclined at the present to soft pedal, Robinson misses few opportunities to lash out at the administration and its policies.

Already the Indiana senator has raised the cry of dictatorship and warns of its consequences.

'Gag Rule' Criticized

IN HIS second extended speech in a session hardly yet underway, Robinson sharply criticized recent action of the democratic leadership of the house in forcing through a so-called "gag rule"—one of the most drastic ever obtained.

"This gag rule," shouted Robinson, "forced by an executive who desires to rule by himself alone... will cause the American people to lose confidence in their government as it is now conducted as nothing else could."

"...an executive who desires to rule by himself alone..."

Indications are that more will be heard of this as the day of reckoning for the entire membership of the house and one-third of the senate draws nearer.

It is doubtful if the success already achieved by administration policies or that expected during the coming months will silence such an argument.

President Replies

DEBATE in the house on the drastic rule proposed to safeguard the President's economy program clearly indicated that republicans are thinking along this line.

More than one republican representative directly or by inference called for a restoration of a tripartite government, with congress having its own say-so over legislation once more.

The President, however, is not unmindful of such criticism at the present or that perhaps more of the same kind is to come. Already he has made his defense—that:

"The only thing that has been happening has been (for congress) to designate the President as the agency to carry out certain of the purposes of the congress. This was constitutional and in keeping with the past American tradition."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Corinne Griffith, the "orchid lady" of the silent screen, is back in town with a goodly supply of the stage experience she had desired as a prerequisite to work in the talkies.

And she comes back, she says, with a changed viewpoint that makes the Hollywood she formerly knew seem more than a little fantastic. Moreover, she has come to like the stage so well that she plans to divide her time between camera and footlights.

A 'Vacation' Ends

Miss Griffith, the wife of Walter Morosco, film executive, has been virtually out of the movie spotlight since completing two talkies in the early days of sound.

Corinne had not wanted to make talkies before learning something about the stage, and she says it was over her protests that First National starred her in "Lilies of the Field" and "Back Pay." She was so wary of the possible effects of those films upon her career that she demanded, and got, an extra $25,000 for each of them.

While abroad with her husband, Miss Griffith took lessons from a stage tutor, and would have accepted Hollywood talkie offers then had not her mother's final illness and death intervened. But last year she undertook her first appearance in an eastern "little theater," and that led to a six months' tour in "Design for Living."

'Terribly Spoiled'

"It wasn't easy, but I loved it," she declares. "One night my dressing room was a little hole-in-the-wall that just a few days before had been flooded in a storm. I thought back on the dressing-room I used to have—that $9,000 bungalow First National built for me, with its bath that one writer told me was big enough for a skating rink—and I didn't regret the change one bit."

"The stage brought me into contact with a more real life. I'm always grateful to Hollywood, but I think it spoiled us terribly in the old days. There's a narrowness of viewpoint that I think comes inevitably as soon as you stay shut up within these hills too long. In the future I want to do both plays and pictures."

The one film she would like to do more than any other is a talkie version of her biggest silent film, "The Divine Lady." It is one of the few, as she points out, that is not being done during the present "costume cycle."

KINGSTON—"Counsellor-at-Law." This superb talkie is John Barrymore's masterpiece. It is a story of a man who is a lawyer and a man who is a lawyer.

Perhaps because his role in this picture gives him full opportunity of displaying his unusual dramatic talent. Along with Mr. Barrymore's exceptional acting, the story, the direction and an excellent cast all combine to make this show something to see and enjoy.

It concerns the life of one George Simon, played by Barrymore, and depicts his rise from the Ghetto into the swankiest offices in New York city through his ability as a lawyer. It tells the life of a successful lawyer, and skillfully the lives of others with their problems, mistakes and sorrows, are woven into the plot, as they come to seek advice from the successful counsellor-at-law. A living pattern of reality classifies this picture, for it contains all those small details so often lacking in talking pictures. Every small part in the show is done in perfection, the direction is flawless and real, the audience will sense the realization that they are looking at real people, real events, real problems, joys and sorrows. Bebe Daniels, Isabel Jewell, Doris Kenyon, Melvyn Douglas, Thelma Todd, Onslow Stevens and Vincent Sherman are members of the cast. William Wyler directed. Put this one on the don't miss list, and check it with four big stars.

Orpheum—"Pilgrimage." A human, touching story that sheds new light on the horror of war. A mother, to break up a match between her son and a girl, has him drafted into the army. He is killed in France, and the girl, to add to the mother's greater bitterness, has a child.

Later she goes with other Gold Star mothers on a pilgrimage to France. Here she meets the mother and daughter of other mothers, who hands the answer to the perplexing and bitter problems confronting her. A moving story, filled with beauty and sacrifice, it ends in understanding and sympathy. Henrietta Crozman, as mother, and Norman Foster, as daughter, give the most stirring performance, while Norman Foster, Mattie Nixon, Heather Angel, Hilda Hopper and Charles Grapenard are all in the large cast.

Broadway—"The Big Shakedown." The corner drug store comes in for a lot of glory in this talkie that offers such capable players as Ricardo Cortez, Charles Farrell, and Bette Davis. Mr. Farrell plays the role of an upright druggist, happy with his wife and child. Along comes Ricardo Cortez, minus his well paying liquor business because prohibition is over. He forces Farrell into using fake drugs. Some of these drugs kill Farrell's baby. He gets back on Cortez by dropping him in a tank of acid. This show is filled with tense moments as the plot shows, and it moves along briskly if tragically.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: Same.

Broadway: "Vaudeville" on the stage, and "Hell and High Water" on the screen. Four new stage attractions make up the vaudeville program, including Herbert Kinney and Girls, Jim McDonald Company, and two other feature acts. "Hell and High Water" with Richard Arlen, Judith Allen, and Charles Grapenard, tells the story of a garage owner, who falls in love with a girl who tries to commit suicide by jumping into the water, and who falls into his nets instead. He also finds himself the possessor of an orphan baby. Mr. Arlen, in the starring role, gives a great performance.

TELEPHONE

ONE of the salesman's biggest problems today is to spend his time and money where business is. Markets in different sections are spotty and constantly changing.

That's why salesmen find the telephone such a time and money saver—it enables them to spot business anywhere in the country with the least expense—gives them more time with each customer—eliminates "no-profit" trips, but maintains contacts with customers.

Hundreds of concerns are using telephone selling plans to develop their out-of-town business. We will be glad to tell you how such a plan can be developed to meet the particular needs of your business.

You incur no obligation in asking for this information. Just ask the operator to give you the Business Office and tell them to send a special representative at your convenience.

Grange Convention Drawing to Close

Dispute Arises Over State Wolf Scare

State Grange, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The state of officers for the coming year was decided and most of the business concluded, the 61st annual convention of the New York State Grange settled down today to a program of socializing and domestic work.

They had before them the advice of former State Lecturer Elizabeth Johnson of Lowville to "keep farm peace and threats of violence out of the picture for 1934."

Miss Arthur advised the Grangers to put more money into advertising farm products to make the public want to drink more milk and eat more butter.

"This would be a far better investment and command better public attention," she said, "than strikes against our government and our neighbors. Grange work should be constructive, never destructive."

The Grangers again are headed by State Master Fred J. Freestone of Interlaken. He was re-elected yesterday for a fourth term of two years, an honor unduplicated in the past 41 years of State Grange history.

He will have a new secretary in place of Frank J. Riley of Sennett, who retired yesterday after 14 years in office. He was succeeded by Harold M. Stanley of Skaneateles, who for six years has been secretary of the Grange Revolving Scholarship Fund.

John W. Kiles of Hamburg was re-elected treasurer and William J. Rich of Salem was named steward. Mrs. E. B. Miller of West Chazy succeeded Miss Arthur as state lecturer.

A message from President Roosevelt that it was "a very real pleasure" to send a greeting was received by the Grangers yesterday.

Their message to the Chief Executive praised him for his "heroic and effective efforts to restore economic balance in this country, and safeguarding the interests of the common people."

Residents of Two Sections at Odds With State Experts on What Is a Dog. What a Wolf? Three "Wolves" Said To Be Police Dogs.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Doubtless wolves are prowling over New York state was growing in the minds of residents of two sections today after verified reports the animals were dogs, despite opposite claims by state experts.

Dr. H. H. T. Jackson of the Federal Bureau of Biological Survey supported Thomas O'Neil of Fort Corvington, near Malone, in his claim that a "wolf" killed near the village was his dog, although state officials declared otherwise.

Chief Game Protector Ray Burmaster, stationed at Saranac Lake, sent the animal's carcass to Dr. C. E. Johnson of the State College of Forestry, Syracuse University, who shipped the skull and hide to Dr. Jackson. A report by the latter yesterday lent weight to hunters' disbelief in reports wolves are roaming the Adirondacks.

The report in part: "The animal . . . is too small for a full grown wolf. The color is too reddish over the entire animal for any timber wolf, and is especially too rufous on the face and head, which in all American wolves are gray. The ears are too long, too narrow and the tail is not bushy as in a wolf. The skull has a definitely broader and shorter rostrum than in a wolf."

Five game protectors did their part in the controversy when they followed tracks through deep snow yesterday to a Saratoga county farm home and found the animals to be three large police dogs resembling wolves. Conservation Department Inspector Morgan B. Lelands placed the protectors on the trail near Wilton, where two youths reported a few days ago that they had seen three "wolves" prowling about an abandoned farm house.

Singer and Health Speaker at Rotary

Howard Wade Kimsey, evangelistic singer and songleader on the Sunday afternoon radio programs of Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, entertained the members of the Kingston Rotary yesterday with several solos and later led the group in singing. Mr. Kimsey, at the present time, is assisting Dr. Fred H. Deming in a series of services being held at Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church.

Miss Jean Henry of the State Health Department also addressed the members briefly regarding the health examinations for children which will begin in this city Monday, February 12.

"TWELVE OLD MAIDS" COMING TO PORT EWEN

A hilariously funny farce, "The Twelve Old Maids", is one of the main features of "Comedy Four-some", a program of four one-act comedies, which will be presented at the Reformed Church house, Port Ewen, Thursday and Friday evenings, February 15 and 16.

The secret of the society of the W. A. M. is disclosed, a fortune teller arrives with a beauty and rejuvenating charm, a man is "hooked", a wooden doll comes to life, the women suffrage movement is born, all in this delightful hour of non-sensical fun. The costumes are ridiculous, the songs are parodies, the characters are caricatures. In the cast are Lillian A. Walker, Besie Freer, Mildred Beesmer, Phoebe Ostrander, Mabel Yessie, Ruth Ferguson, Gertrude Van Aken, Catherine Ellsworth, Lissie Hutchings, Berna Terpening, Anna M. Pothemus, Mary E. Pothemus, Ella Munn, Amy Munn, Lillian Vining and Vera Goertz.

Miss Marion Lina Turner of Albany and Chatham, N. J., is directing and staging the production.

Downtown Circle. The second meeting of the Downtown Circle of the Ladies' Aid with Mrs. Louise Pretzsch, leader, was held at the home of Mrs. Anna Krueger, 107 Abel street, Wednesday evening, where a large gathering of ladies had a most enjoyable time. At this meeting great enthusiasm was shown over the German dinner of the Ladies' Aid to be held Shrove Tuesday evening from 5 to 8 o'clock, to which the public is cordially invited. The next meeting of this circle will be announced later.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 8 (AP).—Stocks continued in the grip of a selling surge today and, despite intermittent rallies, orderly reaction was the rule. Depressing news was scarce and the majority of market analysts attributed further reactionary tendencies almost wholly to technical causes. The Paris bazaar appeared to be drying down and the progress of business and industry was viewed as satisfactory. The ticker tape occasionally lagged behind floor transactions, but the activity was considerably under that of yesterday.

Foreign exchanges were again firm in relation to the dollar. Grains and some other commodities were a bit heavy, but cotton advanced after early recessions. Domestic bonds were in moderate supply. French loans were strong.

Share of Union Pacific got up a point and U. S. Smelting more than recovered a 1/2 point loss. American Can was firm and most of the metals related. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Chrysler, Consolidated Gas, United Aircraft, and others were down fractionally to more than 2 points. General Motors was not quite even. The utilities and rails were under some pressure.

Declaration of the regular quarterly Union Pacific dividend, although causing no surprise, brought further cheer to followers of earlier stocks who had been holding on to their favorites despite the reaction. Most of the January traffic reports of leading roads were also encouraging.

Word that the Bank of France had raised its discount rate from 2 1/2 to 3 per cent was according to expectations of quarters that have been studying the gold movement from abroad. Further steps, it was felt, might also be taken to slow down the gold flow from French coffers as well as to curb excessive fluctuations of French exchange.

Charles C. Christians, aged 30 years, of Hurley, died Wednesday at the Benedictine Hospital. Surviving are his wife, Loretta Markie Christians; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Christians, of Alligerville; two sisters, Mrs. G. Wager, of Stone Ridge, and Amy Christians, of Alligerville; one brother, Stanley, of Alligerville; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Christians, of Alligerville. Mr. Christians was a member of Rondout Lodge, F. & A. M. No. 343, and the Jr. O. U. A. M. of Accord. The funeral will be held at the Alligerville Reformed Church Saturday, February 10, at 2:30 p. m. Interment will follow in the Benton Bar cemetery at Kyserike.

Mrs. Genevieve C. DuBois, wife of Frederick F. DuBois, died early Wednesday afternoon at her residence, 37 Lafayette avenue. She was a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. Mrs. DuBois was the contralto soloist of the Rondout Presbyterian Church for the last few years. She was associated with the Schubert Choral Club of Kingston and the Matinee Choral Society of New York city, both of which are under the direction of Miss Virginia Loskamp. Besides her husband she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren V. Short, also of Kingston. Funeral services, to which relatives and friends are invited, will be held at her home on Saturday at 2 p. m., with interment in Montrose cemetery.

Full Sleeves Prominent in Late Paris Designs

Together with collars, sleeves can be considered as the most important item in the new fashions by Paris designers. Even when the waistline hasn't been changed or when the length of the skirt hasn't been very noticeably increased, all the sleeves in the recent collections show a novel cut, an original trimming or some other interesting detail.

There are two tendencies at the present moment. One is to continue emphasizing the amplitude of shoulder line; the other one is to leave it quite simple and trim. However, in both cases, full sleeves are still prominent.

MENUS OF THE DAY

Recipes Serve Twelve

Salmon Mousse
4 tablespoons granulated gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup whipped cream
1 cup salmon
1 cup diced celery
Soak gelatin and water 5 minutes. Dissolve over hot water and cool until a little thick. Add remaining ingredients. Pour into large heart-shaped mold or shallow pan lined out of cold water. Set in cold place to stiffen. Unmold on lettuce. If sheet mold is used heart shapes can be traced from paper cutter or cut out with heart cutter.

Valentine Dessert
12 cake hearts
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup vanilla
1/2 cup green candy gum drops
Cakes can be baked in individual molds or heart shapes cut from baked sheet of cake. Arrange cake on dollies, top with portions of ice cream. Mix whipped cream, sugar and vanilla. Spread on top of ice cream and sprinkle with chopped candy gum drops. Serve at once.

Toast hearts can be made by cutting heart shapes from bread and toasting.
Heart potatoes are made by cutting heart shapes from and frying in deep hot fat as French fried potatoes.
Regular biscuit dough is used for the heart biscuits and a heart cutter gives the desired shapes.

COLORFUL DRESSES FOR WINTER WEAR

Bright dresses to wear under winter coats are getting prominent play. They are, for the greater part, black background with sprig patterns. These are what stylists like to call "exciting" patterns in two-tone checks and plaids.

The junior miss will consider herself the most individually dressed member of the party if she turns her peplum upside down at the waist, and extends the top of her hip pockets to an attention-drawing point. About pockets on evening dresses, the deeper and wider, the smarter.

Practically no long-sleeved evening dresses are being shown for juniors. There is not a precisely sophisticated look to the junior evening department this year, but they are delightfully feminine, being shown in taffeta well flounced on the skirt.

Water Supply Low At Boiceville Camp

Shokan, Feb. 7.—The metal accumulation of Company 215 at the civilian conservation camp at Boiceville, which is in force, following the lifting of the quarantine last Saturday. The camp was quarantined on Monday, January 29, when it was learned that one of the members from West Saugerties was ill at home with scarlet fever. There were no cases of this disease at Boiceville. Because of this quarantine no athletics were engaged in. The woodmen were confined to quarters for the entire week. An armed guard consisting of C. C. C. members who have served in the regular army patrolled the grounds during 24 hours of the day.

Camp No. 2 recently has had water supply trouble though not as a result of frozen pipes as might be supposed. The closing of the Scholastic tunnel caused a fire-foot drop in the water level of the Esopus Creek, thus markedly interfering with the camp's supply for washing purposes. Bucket brigades were organized among the 200 members of the company, that of Barracks No. 1 remaining in for the week-end to insure a water supply for the camp. As a reward for this faithful service.

The basketball games which Larry Sidney Freilich, camp athletic director, had arranged with the Army and Stockton basketballers for last Friday night of course were canceled on account of the quarantine. The feature game for Friday evening at the Clubhouse hall will be with the Saugerties Bigelow Big Five. For a preliminary game the C. C. C. members will tackle the Saugerties basketball team. Every one is invited to attend these games and the dance following.

Slighsburg Services

Slighsburg, Feb. 8.—At the Slighsburg Chapel, the Rev. Luther H. Lusk of the Missionary Institute of Newark, will hold services Sunday, February 11, with preaching at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school will be held after the afternoon service. Everyone is welcome.

CAVANAUGH.—In this city, Tuesday, February 6, 1934, at her residence, 30 Andrew street, Margaret Curran, widow of the late Michael J. Cavanaugh, and loving mother of Mrs. Nellie Burns, Mrs. Thomas Leach, and Mrs. Arthur Britcliffe, Lawrence and Joseph Cavanaugh. Funeral from her late residence, Friday, February 9, at 9 o'clock, thence to St. Mary's Church, where a requiem Mass will be chanted for the repose of her soul. Relatives and friends are invited. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

CAVANAUGH.—It is with much regret the Most Holy Rosary Society of St. Mary's Church announce the death of their sister, Mrs. Margaret Cavanaugh.

Members are requested to assemble at her late residence, 30 Andrew street, Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. for the recitation of the Most Holy Rosary, also attend the Mass Friday morning at St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock for the repose of her soul. (Signed) MRS. FRANK EGAN, President.

CAVANAUGH.—The Ladies of Catholic Benevolent Association, St. Mary's Branch, regret to announce the death of their sister, Mrs. Margaret Cavanaugh.

Members are requested to assemble at her late residence, 30 Andrew street, Thursday at 8 p. m. for the recitation of the Most Holy Rosary and to attend the Mass for the repose of her soul at St. Mary's Church Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock. (Signed) MRS. JOSEPH F. SULLIVAN, Acting President.

Anniversary Mass

ROSSI.—An anniversary Mass will be said by Rev. Edmund Burke at St. Joseph's Church, Monday, February 12, at 7 a. m., for the repose of the soul of the late Thomas Rossi, who died January 11, 1934. Relatives and friends are invited.

24 HOUR SERVICE—ANYWHERE
Urgent Calls
More often than the general public is aware, the prompt response to urgent calls with a modern ambulance and modern equipment has resulted in saving life. Our service in this department is at the disposal of those in need of it—twenty-four hours a day.

THANKSGIVING
By S. N. MARSHON
Said Uncle Ned to little Joe, upon Thanksgiving Day,
"Tell me, my boy, what will you thank the Lord for when you pray?"
And little Joe, eyes bright with fun, spoke up and said, "The turkey's that happened many years ago, and Joe was happier then than on the holidays he spent out in the world of men."
Thanksgiving Day at home is just the best day I know for mother's turkey was a treat, and I was little Joe.

An exhibition of good taste and judgment is shown in the selection of our memorials. Permanency of beauty in design and construction is assured.

PROTECT YOURSELF From "BOOTLEG" MERCHANDISE!

*The Ads in the Freeman
Safeguard Your Buying*

INFERIOR "depression" merchandise is still flooding the country on the look-out for "suckers" who will buy. These goods are below a wholesome standard of quality—not worth the money or anywhere near it! Whether you order a quart of ice cream for Junior's birthday party or a brace of shirts for friend husband you cannot afford to take chances with this sub-standard merchandise.

How can you avoid being bilked on inferior goods—endangered by foodstuffs prepared in unsanitary surroundings—cheated on commodities made by children or sweated labor? There are two safe ways!

First, patronize reputable merchants. Certainly, avoid buying from the door-to-door peddler you know nothing about!

Second, read and shop regularly through the ads in The Freeman. Dealers who sell goods of sound quality do not hesitate to advertise them in the newspaper where you can read, study and compare their qualifications and prices. An advertiser who must spend money to tell you about his goods seldom endangers his investment by falsehoods and misrepresentation. A consistent advertiser whose business reputation depends on your continued good will never does!

Freeman Ads Protect Your Pocketbook

When you read The Freeman ads you can compare any merchant's offering for quality, description and price with others in the paper. You're protecting yourself against POOR quality and unreasonable charges. The reputable advertising merchant knows this. He welcomes your comparison. He knows it will build up your sense of discrimination, teach you to appreciate his own worthwhile goods and save you from making future mistakes.

Freeman Ads Safeguard Your Time

You'll have more time for leisure if you let The Freeman ads plan each shopping trip for you. Before you leave home you'll know just which stores you're going to visit and what you're going to buy. No time wasted in walking around town comparing items and prices in a dozen different stores. You've done all that BEFOREHAND—in the pages of The Freeman! Shopping through the ads gives you extra hours for doing the things you LIKE to do!

Freeman Ads Assure Lasting Satisfaction

When you've made it a habit to buy from reputable merchants you know about—from advertisers who aren't afraid to let you compare their offerings side by side with others—THEN you'll find yourself getting longer life, more wear, and a fuller, lasting satisfaction from all your purchases. You'll know just where to find quality. You'll be a discriminating buyer. If all women bought as carefully, the makers of inferior "sucker-bait" goods would have to quit business.

And the NRA Does Its Part

When you shop the ads remember to look for the familiar little symbol that provides the best protection of all! Goods advertised "NRA" mean that no little children drudged weary hours in their making—no tired men and women slaved in a sweat-shop for a pitiful wage. "NRA" assures you that your purchase is made and sold by well-paid men and women who like their jobs well enough to bring you a carefully made, quality product!

St. James Official Board Had Meeting

The trustees of St. James M. E. Church of Kingston were the hosts to the official board of their church at a dinner given at the Governor Clinton Hotel in its reception room at 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening.

At the opportune time, while the assembly, 22 in number, was standing about the festive board, John H. Gregory, chairman of the trustees, presented as a surprise guest the pastor, the Rev. Frank H. Neal. Following the invocation by the pastor the men were seated and partook of a very generous and bounteous chicken dinner.

An outstanding event of the evening was the presentation of a petition to the Rev. Mr. Neal, bearing the unanimous signatures of the board, requesting of the bishop of the New York Conference, the return of the Rev. Mr. Neal to the pastorate of St. James M. E. Church for the year 1934.

Each member present was in a receptive frame of mind. This was evidenced by a personal response from each individual in a gracious and thankful manner for the privilege of having a part in the church. Some of the senior members reminisced past experiences and recalled to mind the names of fellow members whose faces are but a picture in the records of memory and whose efforts, integrity and keen sense of judgment in matters of decision and importance founded a basis upon which we continue to exist as a church.

When the banquet was brought to a close, the usual clasp of the hand and the cheerful good-night was supplemented by a countenance which bespoke a unity of heart, a unity of mind and a unity of purpose.

"T" Auxiliary Meeting

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will hold the February meeting at the Y. M. C. A., Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be a program pertaining to Abraham Lincoln. Plans will be discussed for the turkey dinner to be served on Tuesday, February 27.

HOW

DRAFT CHILDREN BOOTLED THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

It is something of a problem, teachers at the Kansas State Deaf school to Olathe, Mo., admit, to put a stop to the "bootlegging" of the English language among their pupils.

"Bootleg" language is the common sign language pervading among the deaf. It is a mixture of signs to compensate in writing, teachers say. The deaf child may be unable to write signs and gestures, but when he starts to put his thoughts down on paper they somehow get across.

Teachers are faced, some find themselves in the place of nouns, verbs and themselves in the place of verbs. All because of the pupil's habit of indicating a whole word or a part of a sentence with a simple gesture. The gestures make talking easy, but writing difficult.

Teachers grow distracted in attempts to make the children spell out each word a letter at a time on their fingers. This method naturally seems harder to learn, slower, and perhaps appears more complicated. Meanwhile, there is danger the deaf child will adopt an "Aw, what's the use?" attitude.

But if the pupil is to be taught correct English in writing he must build his language on fundamentals and take the necessary pains to spell out his words by individual letters, teachers say. Otherwise, his finger talking is likely to be slipshod and lapse into jargon.

How to Care for Books That Have Been Damaged

The book that has become water marked should be treated in the following manner, which is also good for iron rust or moldy spots: Make a weak solution of sulphate of potash and in another container, a saturated solution of oxalic acid. That is, dissolve the acid crystals in water until it refuses to dissolve any more. First wash the page gently with a sponge soaked in the sulphate solution, then with the acid solution. Repeat with first one, then with the other until the stain has vanished. Moisten a clean blotter with a slight amount of the oxalic acid solution to clean a soiled, musty page. Lay the slightly dampened blotter on the page and run over with a hot, not scorching, iron.

There are good menders on the market for dealing with torn pages. For crumpled in pages, or turned-down corners, place damp blotters on each side of creased part and press with hot iron.

How Strength Changes

At what time is a man strongest and how does his strength come and go? Those are questions that certain learned people asked themselves (and one another) several years ago. Since no one seemed to be quite sure of the answers, a large number of tests was made, in order to discover the exact facts. As a result, it was found out—so far as white races are concerned—that a healthy youth of seventeen may be expected to lift about 280 pounds. By the time he is twenty he ought to be able to lift 320 pounds, and when he has reached thirty-one he should manage 365 pounds. From then his strength begins to grow less. By the time he is forty the "average" man can lift only 351 pounds, and by the time he is fifty his lifting power has gone down to 330 pounds. After that it decreases steadily, but it is not so easy to give figures, because people vary more in their later years than in those that come before.

How Tomahawks Were Made

The tomahawk, which is sometimes considered a weapon peculiar to the American Indian, was originally a club carved into some convenient shape. It was most commonly a stout stick about three feet in length, terminating in a large knob, wherein a projecting piece of flint was often inserted. The hatchets of the Indians that are now called tomahawks are a European device and the stone hatchets so often found in our fields, called by the same name, were not military weapons, but mechanical tools.

How Long Gloves Have Been Worn

The use of gloves is of high antiquity, and apparently was known even to the prehistoric cave dwellers. In Homer, Laertes is described as wearing gloves in his garden. Herodotus tells how Leontichides filled a glove with money received as a bribe, and Xenophon records that the Persians wore for gloves having separate sheaths for the fingers.

How Archaeologists Are Financed

The government, through the Smithsonian Institution, finances some archaeological expeditions. Other expeditions are financed by the National Geographic Society, the American Museum of Natural History in New York City, by certain colleges and universities, by groups of colleges or universities, by individuals, etc.

How to Remove Stains

Use art gum or stale bread to remove marks from wallpaper. Mildew spots, if fresh, are removable by soaking in sour milk or in lemon juice and salt and placing in the sun. More persistent stains may be removed by means of an oxalic acid solution.

How Blackout Got Name

Has been asked, recently as a corruption of the barbarism, the original root from the "average" side of the film—the ancient name of the Volga.

The Laboratory Helps To Step Up Production

Continued federal and state laboratory research to assist farmers to grow more on less land is declared necessary by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. An increase in productivity due to scientific aid must be equably distributed, he says, so that a "decent adjustment" between productive power and consumptive power results.

Thomas Satisfied Inflation Coming

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP).—The senator who has called loudest and longest for inflation—Thomas of Oklahoma—is satisfied it is on the way, and believes the nation is headed out of its economic difficulties.

The silver-haired Democrat said today his job was done, that all the inflationary legislation necessary was on the statute books and that it was now up to President Roosevelt to see it through.

At the same time, Thomas expressed the view that it may not be necessary for the President to take any further inflationary steps than those already taken, that no further expansion of the currency may be necessary.

He said the inflationary movement was under way, that money had been cheapened, that there had been some increase in the currency actually in use, and that the movement might carry itself from now on.

But, he added, "The President has the power to go ahead and I am sure he will as fast as it is desirable and wise."

It remains to be seen, Thomas said, whether any further inflationary action must be taken by the government, adding that "If we come to a period of stagnation, steps should be taken to keep us going."

INGREDIENTS BILL WOULD TELL FACTS

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP).—Liquor and wine consumers would know the exact quality of their drinks if the Legislature approves a bill before it today.

Labels would be necessary on all bottles containing liquors or wines, stating the ingredients from which they have been distilled, compounded or blended and the age thereof, under provisions of a measure sponsored by Assemblyman William Schwartz, New York Democrat.

Awarded Operatic Medal

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP).—T. Carl Whitmer of Pittsburgh, today is the possessor of the coveted David Bispham medal, given by the American Opera Society of Chicago. The award was made during a recital by Whitmer last night at Skidmore College in recognition of his work for the symbolic music drama. Professor Whitmer, organist and musical director of the Sixth Presbyterian Church at Pittsburgh, founded Dramamount, on the Hudson. In 1923, for creation and presentation of symbolic music dramas, Victor Herbert, Deems Taylor, Walter Damrosch and others equally famous are among recipients of the Bispham medal.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 25c and 50c. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like—Advt.
